WHAT Are We Going to Do

ATKINS AND McDIARMID WILL ENTER FOR B. C. SCHOLARSHIP

Two Well Known Arts Men will be Rivals for Rhodes Honour

Two prominent undergraduates of McGill will compete for the Rhodes Scholarship, that is to be awarded by the province of B.C. this coming July.

Mr. B. Elmo Atkins, better known as "Tommy", is without doubt one of the most popular men in the Faculty of Arts. He was born in Vancouver in 1892 and got his elementary training in a private school in that city. In the fall of 1908, he joined the ranks of Arts '13, and at the end of his second year secured the Wicksteed Medal with the high percentage of 94. In his third year, he decided to take the Honors Course in History, and English, and led his class at the end of the session. In the same year, he was elected class secretary, a position which he filled splendidly. At the end of the term he was elected secretary of the Union.

On his return last fall from Vancouver, "Tommy" was chosen manager of the Tennis Team. He refused the position of Vice-President of the "Lit." and literary correspondent of the Canadian Club. Lately, he was chosen representative of Arts on the Convocation Dance Committee of which he was subsequently elect Sec.-Treasurer. Mr. Atkins spends a great deal of time in the gymnasium, and will be a strong contender for the Wicksteed Medal offered to students of the fourth year for general proficiency in gymnasium work.

Mr. Ben. McDiarmid, is perhaps not as well known by McGill students but his sterling qualities make him a strong contender for the Scholarship. Mr. McDiarmid was born in Edmonton, but four years ago he removed to Victoria, where he was principal of one of the largest public schools. In the fall of 1911 he joined the ranks of Arts '14, and was elected secretary of his year. This fall he captained the University Soccer Team and played on the Class Hockey Team. He also acted as treasurer of the Y.M.C.A. of which he has always taken a great interest. Mr. McDiarmid is also president of The Western Club. This year he is taking an honor course in Economics and Political Science.

With two such remarkable men in the field, the B.C. committee is certain to find it difficult to choose the recipient of the Scholarship.

FINAL ORGAN RECITAL FOR LENT AT CATHEDRAL TO-DAY

The observance of the Lenten season at Christ Church Cathedral has been especially marked by the various organ recitals that have been given by W. Lynwood Farnam of the McGill Conservatorium of Music staff. The last of these will take place this afternoon at four o'clock. Special reference must be made to the Concerto in A minor for four pianos.

A silver offertory is taken at all these recitals to defray the necessary expenses. In order that nothing may be allowed to mar the effect, the doors will be closed during the playing of each number on the program.

The following is the program of music that will be rendered:

*1. Prelude and Fugue in C major
(From "The Eight Short")
2. Toccata and Fugue in D (Dorian)
3. Choral Preludes—
(a) "In deepest need" (G major)
(b) "In Thee is joy" (G major)
OFFERTORY
4. Choral Prelude in F major
"We believe all in one God"
*5 Concerto in A minor, for four pianofortes
I. Moderato
II. Largo
III. Allegro

*First time at these recitals.

WHAT ARE WE GOING TO DO?

Yesterday in these columns we referred to the debt of the Students' Council and dealt with some suggestions as to how it should be payed off. The situation is so serious that we again wish to call it to your attention, even if we only succeed in re-iterating what has been said before. Student autonomy is endangered by the existence of this deficit; student credit is injured, and the Council is sorely hampered in its work. We have in fact, arrived at that point where action of some kind is imperative.

There is one difficulty in this matter of the deficit and that lies in the fact that we do not know at the present moment what our liabilities really are. We know that they are now estimated to amount to nearly $3,500, and though the "Daily" does not wish to appear in the role of the alarmist, it is our belief that by the end of the Council's current financial year, this will be found to be in the neighborhood of $5,000. We sincerely hope that this idea will prove unjustified, but a consideration of the situation tends to lead the observer to form some such conclusion.

If, therefore, we cannot predict with certainity, what our debt really amounts to, we naturally cannot take steps to meet it in full immediately. However, we can and we must, do something. We can seriously consider paying a large part of it out of our own pockets. We can discuss the possibility of funding the debt and meeting it gradually, and we can form some conclusion as to whether or not it is desirable that we should appeal to our graduates for help. THESE THINGS WE CAN ALL DO NOW.

The situation is indeed serious, so serious that every undergraduate should be present at Wednesday's meeting. That is the LEAST the individual student can do for the time being. This debt must be paid off. If we do not act, it will sooner or later force the University authorities to step in. Are we not capable of running our own affairs? YES! Well, then, let us prove it.

APOLOGY DUE PRESIDENT OF THE ARTS UNDERGRAD SOC.

For Mis-statement of Opinion

Our attention having been called to an overstatement we hasten to make apologies to the newly-elected president of the Arts Undergraduate Society. We quoted Mr. Johnston as endorsing the amendment to the Council's constitution which calls for greater publicity. We published the statement in good faith and regret sincerely having given rise to a false impression.

What Mr. Johnston did say was that he looked forward to the Council and the student body being brought into closer touch with one another, but that on the proposed amendment he was not prepared to commit himself. While concurring with the end to be obtained, he was inclined to question the desirability of the means suggested.

We trust that this correction will place the president-elect in a proper light before his fellow students.

INTERCOLLEGIATE NOTES

Yale will start football practice about April 15th. The best men will be given instruction in the finer points of football during the summer. The Yale stadium will not be ready till the Yale-Harvard game of 1914. This delay is caused by the work of excavation necessary to have the drainage system work well. By the system they will be able to drain the field so that half an hour after a very heavy storm it will be dry enough to play on.

LECTURE OF NORTHFIELD SUNDAY NIGHT IN STRATHCONA HALL

Will be Illustrated by Lantern Slides

McGill men will have another chance of seeing the famous slides of "Northfield" at Strathcona Hall on Sanday night.

It has been decided to replace the usual Sunday evening 'Sing' with an illustrated lecture on Northfield, in which many McGill men who have had the pleasure of attending the conference will take part.

The men now in college who have attended previous conferences have been busy speaking about Northfield to their acquaintances, with the result that not a few have signified their intention of going down with the delegation this year, and a very strong interest in the trip has been aroused.

It is expected that a goodly crowd will attend the meeting in the Reading Room after the church services on Monday night, to see the familiar scenes there. Roundtop, the auditorium, the Track Meet, McGill beating 'Varsity at baseball, Phineas Fletcher catching, the bonfire, etc., etc.

For further information, see Frank Common or Jean Bitler.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

The Western Club will hold its last meeting of the season, next Friday in the Union at 8 p.m. sharp. Election of officers, and the question of a reduction in railroad fare will be discussed. Program and refreshments.

THE MARITIME CLUB WILL DINE TUESDAY, MARCH 25TH

R.B. Bennett, M.P. for Calgary will be the Speaker

Conspicuous among the younger Clubs at McGill, and by no means the least important, is the Maritime Club. This Society has as its object the promotion of the best interests of those in attendance at McGill who hail from the provinces by the sea.

Following the lead of western and eastern Townships Clubs, it is understood that the Maritime Club intend holding their first annual dinner on Tuesday evening, the 25th inst.

The Club has been fortunate enough to secure as guest of honor Mr. R. B. Bennett, member of parliament for Calgary, one of the most promising of the younger members of the House. Mr. Bennett is president of the Maritime Club in the city which he represents, and is well-known as one of the best public speakers in Canada.

The executive of the Club has been beset with numerous difficulties in planning for this banquet. Chief among these has been the trouble in securing a suitable place to hold the dinner, since the leading hotels have refused to allow student dinners to be held on their premises. The securing of a speaker also proved the source of no little difficulty.

This banquet will equal anything of a similar nature, ever held in the University.

Full details of this first annual dinner will appear in Monday's 'Daily'.

CANADIAN CLUB AND LIT TO HOLD JOINT MEETINGS

Nominations for Executive of these Clubs are Now in Order

Notice was given through the columns of the Daily some few days ago that nominations for the executive of next year's Literary Society were in order. Several of these have already been sent to the Secretary. This list will be open until Thursday noon of next week.

To date but one nomination has been received for the presidency. This is for Mr. Donald McGuire, the well-known intercollegiate debater. Nominations must be signed by any two members of the Society and handed to the Secretary or left for him at the Arts Building.

The recent discussion and criticism of the Literary Society has made the personell of the coming executive extremely interesting. Those who have criticised now have an opportunity to see for themselves that those who control the Society next year are men who have their confidence.

The present intention is to hold this meeting at the same time as the Annual meeting of the Canadian Club. For this purpose the date of the meeting has been changed, and it is now definitely stated that the joint meeting will be held on Thursday, March 20th, at five o'clock, in Strathcona Hall.

EMPLOYMENT BUREAU IS NOW OPEN AT STRATHCONA HALL

Applicants are Requested to Call in Soon

This is the time of year in which the ordinary student, who can ill afford to spend the summer in idleness begins to think about a "job."

The men in charge of the Employment Bureau at Strathcona Hall are meeting with a good deal of success in the securing of work for college students during the summer vacation.

A number of prominent business organizations were seen on Friday, and it now seems probable that the bureau will be able to offer positions of a widely differing character for periods of about four months, and with fair salaries.

Men who wish summer work should apply as soon as possible to the secretary at Strathcona Hall, or to S. C. Mifflen, Science '14, C. A. Arnott, Med. '15 or R. M. Rowat, Arts '14.

CHICAGO REVIEW PAYS HIGH TRIBUTE TO PROFESSOR CRAYS WORK

McGill Course in Electrical Machine Design Suggested as Standard

The following review published by the Electrical Review of Chicago has just reached us, and as the reader will see, speaks very highly of the work of Prof. Gray and Electrical Department at McGill. The suggestion that the course of lectures as given at McGill would form an excellent standard is one of which we are justly proud.

"Electrical Machine Design." By Alexander Gray, New York:

There are many widely different opinions held by teachers as to what is meant by "electrical machine design" or "design of electrical machinery." To one teacher it means the preparation of drawings and the cultivation of the designing sense. To others it means a course of lectures on electrical machine design. Professor Gray's book was compiled as a course of lectures at McGill University.

The teaching of design has not received the notice that it deserves. As compared to laboratory work it has received practically no attention. Very much has been written about laboratory courses and large sums of money have been invested in laboratory equipment; whereas many schools do not even include in their curriculum electrical design. The writer believes that a course of lectures, such as those given by Professor Gray, supplemented by plenty of calculation and drawing-room work, is as valuable to the correct understanding of theory, as are the taking of data, running of tests and the working out of performance on machines that have already been built. It is believed, therefore, that design courses should have a place in the undergraduate's curriculum as well as in the post-graduate's.

In the past, dynamo design has usually been looked upon as an art rather than a science. It is therefore pleasing to read a treatise in which the author points out very clearly that the designer must be ready to apply scientific methods and analysis to his work; and yet one in which the fact has not been lost sight of that he cannot afford to go back to Adam on every design, but must apply "intelligently" empirical formulas, and constants based upon his own or others' experiences.

As a textbooks for students the only criticism to be offered is that the book covers too many heterogeneous phases of the subject, rather than a thorough and detailed treatment along a few lines. However, as a reference book, for the experienced designer, this very feature enhances considerably the value of the book, and gives him several suggestive points of view. The book is written in a pleasing, narrative style, is authentic, broad guage, and unprejudiced in treatment and is therefore an excellent test for a course of lectures on electrical design or a reference book for the experienced designer. As a text used in connection with a lecture course it would give the student an unusually good bird's-eye view of the field; in fact, it seems to be the best book published so far for this purpose. W. T. Ryan.

THE ASSAULT-AT-ARMS AT R.M.C. WAS HELD LAST WEEK

The Exercises and Gymnastic Work Reveals Wonderful Training

Last Wednesday the Cadets of the Royal Military College, Kingston, held their annual Assault-At-Arms. In the afternoon the boxing bouts were pulled off and several very closely contested encounters resulted. In the evening exhibitions of different kinds of gymnastic work were given. The spectators were very much pleased with the splendid performance of the trained gymnasts, and heartily applauded all the exercises.

The first bout in the finals of the boxing was that in the novices 145-pounds and under class. Cadet Le Mesurier showed his superiority over Cadet Green and gained the decision.

Cadet Clarke handed Cadet Dobbie a knock-out in the second round of the bout for novices, 145-pounds and over.

Cadets Armour and Cassels sparred in the featherweight (125 pounds). The former was awarded the decision on aggressiveness, though it appeared Cassels displayed more science.

Drummond was the only cadet entered for the lightweight bout.

Cadet Lawson won the welterweight (145 pounds) defeating Cadet Wilkins in a very closely contested bout.

Cadet Stratford was victor over Green in the middleweight (158 lbs).

The last bout, the heavyweight was very interesting. Cadet Godwin, a senior, won out in a close fight with Cadet McKeen, a recruit. An extra round had to be fought to decide the winner. This is the third time that Godwin has won the championship in this class.

In the evening exhibitions of the club swinging, free gymnastics, and displays on parallel bars, horses and horizontal bars were given.

Cadet Storms won the bonet fight from Cadet Green.

4TH YEAR MECHANICALS QUIETLY DID WINE AND DINE

Select Party Secretly Stole Away and Revelled

It has just developed that the 4th Year Mechanicals, without even saying a word to anyone, did privately hie out the other evening, and after thoroughly enjoying the good show at the Orpheum, did visit La Corona, where a bounteous repast was served.

Scraps of conversation gathered gave evidence that everyone was out to have a good time, and took care that they got it. Precise details of the function are not available, but it was learned on good authority that "La Belle Corona" did entertain the guests with salomic gravity, and that the revels were kept up till a late hour.
